それでは音量の調節を始めます。

M: Let's talk about the newsletter.

W: OK, let's check what we've got so far. We've decided to have one main story and one short story, right?

M: Right. And what about pictures? Should we have one for each story?

W: I'm not so sure about that. Maybe it would be too much. How about just for the main story?

M: That sounds good. Now, what will our stories be? We could do one about the students who visited from Hawaii. Maybe we could use one of the photos they sent us.

これで音量の調節は終わりです。
このあと、監督者の指示で試験を始めますが、音量は、試験の最中いつでも、調節できます。

第1問 第1問は問1から問6までの6問です。それぞれの問いについて対話を聞き、答えとして最も適切なものを、四つの選択肢（①～④）のうちから一つずつ選びなさい。

Question No. 1

M: Did Sally buy a house?

W: Yes, it's a two-story one.

M: Is it nice?

W: Yeah, it has a big garage and also solar panels on the roof.

Question No. 2

M: When do you leave for Spain?

W: The day after tomorrow.

M: Oh, on Friday?

W: Yeah, but I'm going to the airport hotel tomorrow because my flight is very early.

Question No. 3

W: You wanted a new bag, right? How about this slim one?

M: Actually, I want something larger for business trips.

W: Look at this. It's a backpack, too.

M: Great. I'll get it!

Question No. 4

W: How's the soccer game going?

M: Well, the Bears have two goals, but they're behind.

W: There're 14 minutes left. They still have a chance.

M: Yeah, two more goals to win the game!

Question No. 5

W: Do you know when the lecture is?

M: Here's the postcard. Oh, there's ink spilled over the time.

W: Can you still read the phone number?

M: Uh-huh. I'll call and ask.

Question No. 6

M: Look! Forty dollars a pair for all kids' shoes.

W: That's a bit expensive.

M: But there's a 50 percent discount on the second pair.

W: Oh, in that case, let's get two pairs.

Question No. 7

M: What club are you going to join when school starts?

W: I don't know. I want to try something new.

M: How about kendo?

Question No. 8

W: What time are you leaving for the baseball game?

M: It starts at six, but I want to get there early.

W: Well, it's almost five now.

Question No. 9

M: Do you usually eat breakfast?

W: Yes, I have toast and eggs every morning. What about you?

M: Well, I'm on a diet, so I usually skip it.

Question No. 10

W: You heard that Carla is in the hospital, right?

M: Yes. I'm thinking of seeing her tomorrow. Do you want to come?

W: Actually, I'm going this evening.

Question No. 11

M: That's all for today, class. See you next week.

W: Excuse me. Aren't we supposed to turn in our assignments today?

M: Oh, that's right. Thanks for reminding me.

Question No. 12

W: What's that strange smell?

M: Sorry, I burned dinner.

W: Hmm, that's too bad. So, what are we going to do now?

Question No. 13

M: If you're free this weekend, do you want to go to the beach?

W: I wish I could, but my parents are coming to visit.

M: Oh, OK. Maybe next time.

Question No. 14

M: Something's wrong with the printer.

W: What's the matter?

M: I turned it on and tried to print my essay, but nothing happened.

W: Is it connected to your computer?

M: Yes, it is. Oh, we have to put some paper in it.

W: I guess we should have checked that first.

Question No. 15

M: Is that a new cell phone?

W: Yeah. Look at the big screen!

M: Why do you need another new phone?

W: I have to keep up with all the latest functions! You should get one, too!

M: No thanks. All I need is a phone that dials and rings.

Question No. 16

W: Do you have this style of jacket in size 11?

M: I'm afraid there aren't any brown ones left in that size. But we have this red one.

W: Umm...it's too bright for me.

M: More brown ones are coming in next Monday.

W: Elevens, too? OK, I'll come back on Monday.

Questions No. 17 to 19

W: What are you looking at?

M: This is interesting. Look how many international students come from China!

W: Yeah, more than 60 percent.

M: Wow, 75 percent of international students are from China and South Korea. That must be because they're so close to Japan.

W: Well, that can't explain everything, because only about four percent come from Taiwan. And Russia isn't far from Japan either, but less than one percent come from there. Almost the same number as from the UK and Canada.

M: Wait. Only 1.7 percent from the USA?

W: I guess so. The same percentage come from Malaysia. And Thailand too.

M: Hmm. But if we look at the actual numbers, the US sends the fewest of the three.

W: Yeah. We haven't met many students from those countries, have we?

M: Why don't we plan an international student party this month? Then we can all get to know each other better.

W: That's a great idea!

Question No. 20

Angora rabbits are soft and lovable pets. There are different kinds in different countries, but Angoras originated in Ankara, Turkey, before spreading around the world. One place they became popular was France. They were kept by the French royal family and other elites in the mid-18th century. Soon, Angoras became popular outside France and could be found throughout Europe by the end of the century. Later, people in the United States started keeping them as household pets in the early 1900s. Wherever you find them, these long-haired rabbits live five to seven years when kept indoors and cared for properly.

Question No. 21

To make a simple kimchi meat sauce, put some finely-chopped garlic into a pan with two tablespoons of olive oil. Turn the heat on, and when you smell the garlic cooking, add one chopped onion and cook for about two minutes. After adding 500 grams of ground beef, cook until light brown, then add one can of chopped tomatoes together with about three tablespoons of ketchup. Before turning the heat down to low and cooking everything for about thirty minutes, don't forget to add three tablespoons of kimchi base. This sauce is great on either spaghetti or rice!

Question No. 22

Growing food locally in American cities has been getting more popular recently. In fact, the vegetables you buy in the supermarket may be grown just down the street. Shoppers may be surprised, but actually urban farming has deep roots, especially in the northeastern US. Before we had good highways and air transport, fruits and vegetables were often grown in city greenhouses during the winter, instead of being shipped in from faraway states or other countries. Because it reduces transportation costs and provides people with fresh food more quickly, urban farming is making a comeback.

Questions No. 23 to 25

There are many kinds of collections and reasons why people build them. People enjoy spending time and money gathering, organizing, and displaying almost anything. A serious collector can even have a career as a respected expert.

Some people love certain musicians, movies, or TV programs so much that they must have any items associated with them. Collectors meet other fans, trade information online, and compete to see who has the biggest and best collection.

Other people may start a collection by accident. For example, suppose a friend gives you a toy whale souvenir and you keep it on your desk. Then, your mother notices it and gives you an umbrella with a whale design. Your collection continues to grow by itself as others give you similar gifts. It may take over your home if you aren't careful!

Collecting may also have a deeper meaning. Some researchers believe it begins with childhood psychological needs. They say we all experienced uncertainty as children or wanted things we could not have, so collecting may give us a greater sense of control over our lives. Whatever the motivation may be, collecting is a satisfying and enjoyable hobby for many people.
